Seven Nurses Fight for Life After Eating Fudge Loaded With Poison

SUSPECT BROTHER LOVERS

Quick Use of Stomach Pumps Saves All Seven From Almost Instant Death

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Seven nurses of the West End hospital fought for their lives Wednesday after they had eaten candy containing cyanide poison.

The candy, which was addressed to Miss Helen Rosenfeld, was home made chocolate fudge.

A typewritten card in the box read: "From a patient who was an ardent admirer, this candy was faithfully made."

Miss Rosenfeld, when she received the box of candy, gathered other nurses about and offered them some.

In addition to Miss Rosenfeld, these others are respectively: Miss Teresa, Alma, Dornfield, Helen Leslie, Anna Ruhl, Daisy Casey and Grace Breckstone.

Analysis of the candy by physicians showed it contained enough poison to kill every person in the hospital. Every portion and crumb of the candy contained poison.

Within a few minutes after the girls had eaten the candy, they were writhing in agony and then fell unconscious on the floor. Quick use of stomach pumps saved their lives. It was said at the hospital.

Two brothers whom police said were in love with Miss Rosenfeld, were questioned in connection with the case. Authorities stated they have information to show that each of the brothers "bragged" that Miss Rosenfeld was his fiancée.

The men denied any knowledge of the plot.

Postal authorities stepped into the case in an attempt to trace the box. The theory that the candy was sent by a discharged and disgruntled patient in a desire for revenge also was investigated.

The brothers who were questioned by police but against whom no charges have been preferred are Ben and Will Zimmerman, who make their home with their sister, Mrs. Clara Kraus.

Mrs. Kraus, it was said, visited the hospital Monday night with Will and advised the nurse to marry him in preference to Ben.

Miss Rosenfeld evaded the issue, police say, by telling Will she was "keeping company" with a "swell fellow" and had a preference for "Irish boys."

"I know nothing about this," Will said. "I do love her and asked her to marry me the first day we met. I also asked her to quit seeing my brother and to go with me all the time."

CHARGE N. P. BANK IS IN BAD SHAPE

Nonpartisan Institution Stopped From Doing Business by Injunction

By United Press Leased Wire
Jamestown, N. D.—A temporary injunction practically closing the State Bank of North Dakota, at Bismarck, has been granted by Judge Coffey of the Stutsman county district court.

The enjoiner prevents the bank from performing any other functions than paying checks and drafts, and restrains the bank from negotiating in any other way. The bank cannot issue, sell or distribute bonds.

The injunction also restrains the Spitzer-Rorick company, of Toledo from selling or delivering any more bonds of the issue authorized by the last legislature, but held up because of market conditions.

Charges that the bank is insolvent were made by petitioners of the court and the state bank is ordered to show cause Nov. 3, why the injunction should not be made permanent.

This move was construed today as an effort to embarrass the administration in view of the coming recall election Oct. 25. The bank is a Nonpartisan administration institution.

Nonpartisans today said they might ask the state supreme court to take original jurisdiction in the case and vacate the injunction.

Scores Birth Control Aims Of "U" Profs

By United Press Leased Wire
Green Bay—In a talk on "educators drift" before the Knights of Columbus here Tuesday night, the Rev. H. C. Noonan attacked the methods used in teaching by professors E. A. Ross, M. V. O'Shea and Otto, of the University of Wisconsin.

As his most direct weapon, Father Noonan, in assailing Prof. Ross, used a book, "The Principles of Sociology," written by Prof. Ross. In the third chapter of the book, Father Noonan pointed out that Prof. Ross encouraged birth control and read abstracts from this chapter.

Speaking of the controversy in which he had become involved, Father Noonan said he was not worrying. He stated he would continue to maintain his contention that birth control was ignominious and a direct violation of the laws of nature as well as God.

KEEP U. S. OUT OF ARMS PACTS, HARDING SAYS

Yorktown Speech Opposes Dragging U. S. Into Anglo-Jap Alliance

By United Press Leased Wire
Yorktown, Va.—President Harding here Wednesday announced his unequivocal opposition to the United States becoming a party to any "alliances in arms" or submerging its nationality to a world sovereignty.

Standing on the spot where the British general, Cornwallis, ended the Revolutionary war by surrendering to George Washington, who opposed entangling alliances at the birth of the republic, the president indicated he hoped the forthcoming limitation of armaments would bring an "understanding and fraternal endeavor which shuns the alliances in arms."

The president's speech was taken to mean that he is opposed to suggestions from abroad that the United States join the Anglo-Japanese alliance or ratify the tripartite treaties with Great Britain and France for the defense of the latter.

Harding emphasized that interdependence among the nations is necessary but asserted emphatically that "no program which seeks to submerge nationality will succeed."

Regarding a "world sovereignty" which might be taken to mean the league of nations the president said: "One need not picture a world sovereignty, ruling over all the varying races, traditions and national cultures because it would never be."

"That would mean a social, institutional and intellectual standardization utterly inharmonious with the plan that filled the world with differing peoples, civilizations and purposes."

President Harding and a party that included four cabinet members, arrived at this historic village on the presidential yacht Mayflower to commemorate the one hundred and fortieth anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis to George Washington.

"We look to the airplanes for speedy passenger service over long distances. "This will break any railroad tieup. It did in England where there was not half the organization in the motor trade that there is here today.

"We believe that if the strike is called and if the trucks of the nation are utilized—as they must be—they will supplant the railroads in many parts of the country. "Trucks can transport freight over short distances at cheaper rates and assure speedy delivery than trains."

STRIKE MOVE IS RESULT OF CALLING BLUFF

Washington Officials Believe Unions are Not Eager for Test of Strength

TEST RAIL BOARD'S POWER

New Proposals of Board Will Allow Both Sides to Recede From Present Status

By David Lawrence
(Copyright, 1921, by Post-Pub. Co.)
Washington.—Prevailing opinion Tuesday among members of the cabinet and others in touch with the railroad situation was that there will be no strike.

This is based mostly on a knowledge that the labor leaders themselves are not eager for a test of strength and that the railroad executives cannot afford to take an arbitrary attitude toward any compromise solution that may be proposed.

Many a compromise is being considered. The chances are that the calling of the strike as a protest against a second wage cut will lose its main justification when a proposal is made that the interstate commerce commission and railroad labor board be given an opportunity to work out a program whereby reductions in wages shall be passed on to the consumer through cheaper freight rates.

As it is now, the labor leaders claim the first cut in wages of last July wasn't passed on. The railroads claim the wage cut wasn't big enough to warrant a drop in rates. The strike has been called to prevent a second cut. The request for a second cut in wages, it is suspected, is largely the strategy of the railroad executives in wishing to make sure the acceptance of the first cut.

Blame Rail Board
Shippers' organizations seem to be placing as much blame on the United States railroad labor board as on either of the parties to the controversy for the failure of the railroads to reduce rates. The railroad labor board on the other hand claims it hasn't been able to operate single-handed since it could not know how far wages could be reduced because there was no way of knowing how far the interstate commerce commission thought it wise to go in reducing wages.

The labor board has been handling wages, the interstate commerce commission has been handling rates. President Harding has wisely brought the two agencies together. They have practically adopted a program which will be offered as the combined judgement of the two instrumentalities which deal with American railroads.

Not Last Resort
There are plenty of technicalities, plenty of chances for give and take in the negotiations to permit of a withdrawal of the strike or at least its indefinite suspension, while the whole controversy is further examined. This seems the most likely outcome of the meeting in Chicago of the railroad labor board and the brotherhood chiefs. The latest threat to strike is not the result of any long-drawn out negotiation in which both sides have exhausted their argumentative resources. It is as much the result of an ill-fated calling of a "bluff" as anything else. The labor leaders called on the executive to protest against the first wage cut. The executives replied with an announcement that they intended to request a second cut. The labor leaders said they would have to call a strike, and the executives in effect said "Go ahead." The labor leaders were compelled to go ahead or lose moral strength in a negotiation. If pushed to the limit, they will go through with the tie-up but nobody here believes the government will allow the two parties to the dispute to reach each other into a test of power at the expense of the public.

New proposals of settlement are fully expected therefore from the United States railroad labor board, which will permit each side to recede gracefully while a program of wage cuts on the one hand and freight rate reductions on the other is worked out. Meanwhile Attorney General Daugherty is making no rash statements about the use of the injunction against the strike. Nothing is being done by the administration to aggravate the situation. For the next few days the usefulness of the United States railroad board as an agency for settling railway disputes hangs in the balance. If it fails Congress will have to effect another remedy. But the disposition here is to give the board a further opportunity to compel respect for its decisions.

Nation Has Suffered Great Losses Because of Tieup of Transportation—Most Recent Strike Was in August of 1920

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New York—Five times before has this country faced a real or threatened railroad strike. These were:

1. Strike of 1877.
2. Pullman strike of 1894.
3. Threatened strike for eight-hour day, 1916 and 1917.
4. Strike of railroad shopmen and general demand for increased wages, 1919.
5. "Outlaw" strike of railroad switchmen, 1920.

Strike in 1877
Riot accompanied the railroad strike of 1877. It began on the Baltimore & Ohio road; when the men's wages were reduced 10 per cent. It spread through the Pennsylvania system and then throughout the country.

The loss to the Pennsylvania road alone amounted to $2,000,000, while Pittsburgh suffered a loss in business and property damage of $5,000,000.

The strike, however, was unsuccessful and it died out a month after it had started.

Pullman Strike
The Pullman strike of 1894 began with a walkout on May 11 of the Pullman employees when their wages were reduced an average of 25 per cent.

The American Railway Union, an organization outside the big four brotherhoods, also called out its members and a general strike of the railway workers began on June 26, 1894.

The estimated loss to the country at large as a result of this walkout was said to reach $50,000,000.

Eight-Hour Fight
There were a few scattered local strikes after that, but none came up to the proportions of the difficulty that arose between the government and the railroad men in 1916 and 1917.

A request for an eight-hour day and time and a half overtime caused the intervention of President Wilson, who suggested that the railroads grant the eight-hour day, without extra overtime. Although the brotherhoods favored the proposal, the railway officials rejected it and a national strike was called for Sept. 4.

By Sept. 2, Congress passed the Adamson eight-hour law, which temporarily averted the strike. After continued controversy, the railroad brotherhoods again called a strike to begin March 17, 1917.

The government intervened again and was able to hold up the strike two days until the federal supreme court declared the Adamson law constitutional, and the eight-hour law went into effect.

Shopmen's Strike
The strike of 1918 was over the question of wage increase, to conform with the rising cost of living. On Aug. 1, Chicago's railroad shopmen walked out and were later followed by the men in New York and Boston. About 125,000 men stopped

Rail Board To Wield Whip To Halt Walkout

U. S. Scored By Stone For Late Action

Says Railroad Board Should Have Asserted its Authority Long Ago Instead of Waiting Until Labor Wants to Better Conditions.

By Harold D. Jacobs
By United Press Leased Wire
Cleveland, O.—While the railway labor board was working for peace in the transportation situation at Chicago Wednesday, executive committees of three of the big brotherhoods were in secret session here preparing for war.

This conference, representing the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Engineemen and Firemen took the place of the proposed "war council" of all brotherhood chiefs, which was suddenly abandoned after once before having been called off and then rescheduled.

The executive committees were said to be drawing up the most minute detail the plans for carrying out the strike starting Oct. 30, should the "little peace conference" in Chicago fall through.

Chiefs to Confer
Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the engineers, in announcing abandonment of the "war council" said the union leaders would confer Thursday before going into session with the railway labor board, to consider their attitude in that meeting—generally regarded as the last chance to avert the threatened industrial war.

Stone indulged in a bit of sarcasm at the expense of the railway labor board in a statement Wednesday.

"I have read in the newspapers that the board is going to 'assert its authority,'" he said. "It is strange that it should be discovered when labor is trying to better its conditions and not until then, that the board has full authority."

Referring to the Washington administration, Stone said:

Speaks Rather Late
"If press reports are true, the administration has issued a statement to the effect it now proposes to find out whether the railway labor board is a useless body. Why hasn't the administration taken this position months ago? Violations of the board's ruling by the railroads have been repeatedly brought to the administration's attention, and nothing was done about it."

Participating in the informal meeting here Wednesday were W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers. It was believed that T. C. Cashen, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America and L. E. Sheppard, president of Order of Railway Conductors might also be present.

They were to leave for Chicago before night.

Thinks U. S. Should Give "Pure Liquor" To People

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—The national government ought to give "pure liquor" to the people of the United States.

This was the contention of Francis S. Peabody, Chicago coal magnate, here Wednesday.

Peabody, one of the outstanding figures in the bituminous coal mining industry and operator of a chain of the coal operator and increase the price the consumer must pay.

Unless wages are brought down speedily, the cost of living must remain at its present peak. Edwin Ludlow, another convention speaker declared. Ludlow is president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Demands of union coal miners of the United States, when they enter wage wars with operators next April, will be formulated along the same lines of three recently granted to English miners, Ludlow said.

USE ALL POWER TO HALT RAIL STRIKE

Pressure for peace in the railroad strike was brought on the railroad unions and executives Wednesday.

Government agencies at Chicago and Washington made it plain that they were ready to go the limit to keep the roads running.

In Chicago mediation efforts were being handled by the railroad labor board which met on the call of the three members of the public group who just returned from conferences with President Harding at Washington.

If the Chicago efforts fail, Washington officials have under consideration measures to be taken against both the unions and railroad heads.

The determination that the strike must be halted was expressed in messages from a number of governors wired to the United Press.

Before leaving for Chicago to meet the labor board officials of the engineers, trainmen, engineemen and firemen met in Cleveland to discuss strike plans.

WATER BOARD WILL ASK COUNCIL WHY IT IS ATTACKED

Heads of Water Department Will Attend Meeting of Council Tonight

Why the ordinance to abolish the water commission, that will be put up to the common council at its meeting Wednesday evening by the commissioners, who voted at their session Tuesday afternoon to attend in a body and ask this explanation of the city fathers.

The council at its last meeting ordered publication of a proposed ordinance repealing ordinance No. 153, which created the water commission to operate the municipal water plant. No explanation accompanied the motion to take first steps to abolish the commission.

The report of A. J. Hall, superintendent of the pumping station was read and accepted.

C. OF C. HAS NO PART IN CAMPAIGN

Considerable explaining and trouble has been caused by an error in the Post-Crescent on Tuesday in which it was stated that the chamber of commerce will handle the 1921 Red Cross roll call campaign. This error grew out of the fact that Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber will be in charge of the drive. The organization itself will take no part in the campaign. Its constitution forbids it to take up matters of that kind and as an organization it will not participate in the drive. Mr. Corbett will handle the work as an individual and not as head of the chamber of commerce.

Optimism Shown

"If the president really meant what he said when he declared he was ready for a showdown as to whether the railway labor board's orders were to be obeyed, it is a notable advance toward settlement of the whole trouble," Lee said.

If both sides hold to their present positions the labor board will make public this fact with the express purpose of swinging public opinion into line behind the administration and against both the unions and the men.

Three Weapons
After that, the show down between the government and the railroad forces, both capital and labor will be inevitable, officials said. Then the following weapons will be available:

1. Tying up of the brotherhoods strike funds. This was done by the government in the coal strike.
2. Criminal proceedings on the ground of a conspiracy to interfere with interstate commerce. This was done in the case of the coal strike.
3. Taking over of the railroads under the national defense act. In the event this should become necessary to keep the mails moving and food supplies available, there is plenty of authority in the act and the opinion of some government officials might even be "drafted" into service to run the trains.

U. S. Will Find Way To Give Power

Belief is That Roads Will be Made to Cut Freight Rates Now and Defer New 10 Per Cent Wage Cut Until Some-time Later.

By Carl Victor Little
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—The United States railroad labor board met Wednesday to carry out President Harding's proposals to bring peace in the railroad labor war.

Chairman R. M. Barton of the board said President Harding outlined to him certain broad proposals which the board will form into a concrete peace proposition for presentation to the union heads tomorrow.

Barton, Secretary G. W. W. Hanger and Ben Hooper, who represent the public on the board, just returned from Washington where they were summoned by the president.

"The definite plan of proposed railroad peace will not be known until the members of the board have gone into every phase thoroughly," Barton told the United Press.

"We know, in a certain broad way, the will of the administration and will talk matters over with those members of the board representing the carriers and the workers. The members who were not in Washington will give us the benefit of these observations of events while we were away."

Propose Rate Cut
It was believed the board will propose to the railroads that the public be given the benefit of the 12 per cent wage cut in July by an immediate slash in freight rates and that the carriers withdraw for the present their request of an additional 10 per cent reduction in wages.

The brotherhoods will be asked to call off temporarily their Oct. 30 strike order and to use their influence in forestalling similar orders from other unions.

J. L. Smock, vice president of the Maintenance of Way Workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, said here Wednesday that the union would not issue a call for a strike if the roads would reduce freight rates and withdraw their request for an additional 10 per cent cut in wages.

Pennsylvania Hearing Thursday
The hearing of the Pennsylvania before the board set for Thursday morning will proceed, according to Barton. The Pennsylvania has been cited before the board to show why it should not be publicly rebuked for keeping the board in order, it is contending with shop employees to draw up a new set of working agreements.

The government has let it be known that the railroad board will be backed to the limit and that means to enforce its mediation decrees will be found. This is one of the clubs the board will hold over both sides of the railroad controversy when it meets with the brotherhoods in an informal capacity tomorrow.

Put "Teeth" in Law
If necessary, one board member pointed out, the administration could bring the board into line by the transportation act putting "teeth" in it. The act now depends upon the force of public opinion to enforce its decisions.

Putting "teeth" in the Esch-Cummings act is the biggest club the board members hold over both sides. The railroads may be forced to bow to the edict of the railroad board—which after all is the will

GOVERNMENTS OR PEOPLES?

In some quarters the president is upheld and in others censured for his correspondence with Miss Freed in which he seems to prepare the public for meager results at the approaching conference for the limitation of armament. "It is necessary to deal with actualities," Mr. Harding wrote. "Universal disarmament would be beyond hope of realization; even its desirability at this time might well be questioned." While it is true that sentimentalism cannot be permitted to guide the decisions of the conference, and while it also is true that more or less misunderstanding has arisen over the use of the word "disarmament," which is out of the question, it does not follow that genuine steps cannot or should not be taken toward a substantial reduction of armament. Here is where popular suspicion and perhaps disappointment at the president's admonitions creep in. The public realizes that if the politicians and diplomats who gather at Washington are left to their own devices little is likely to be accomplished. "The limitation of armaments can never be imposed by the governments on the peoples, but it may be imposed by the peoples on the governments. It is only by creating an instructed public opinion in each country that the necessary strength of world opinion may be obtained." This excerpt from the report of the League of Nations' committee on disarmament goes to the root of disarmament. Governments will not bring it about, peoples must.

The Chicago Tribune argues that reduction of armaments is complicated if not prohibited by racial and national antipathies of peoples. "The plain and common people are antagonistic to each other," it says. They have "contempt or dislike for the mass of people composing another nation. They invent opprobrious names for them. . . . They sneer at different language. They are enemies of everything alien and scornful of other customs and habits." etc. "The plain and common people," it adds, are "inclined upon the slightest pretext to knock each other's block off." . . . The French and German peoples do not love each other. Their animosities are not wholly created by their governments. . . . It is the same with nearly every other people with relation to nearly every other people." If these were accurate statements of whole truths, if they in reality were true, we should indeed face a heavy obstacle in the path of peace and reduced armaments.

That they are, however, only half truths, and even questionable half-truths at that, requires but a moment's reflection. Most animosities of peoples are in fact created by governments, the Tribune to the contrary notwithstanding. All history is a record of this. Nations have been led against each other, by rulers, by warriors, bent upon aggrandizement of power or ambition from time immemorial. There is hardly a war until modern times, aside from religious crusades, which cannot be traced to this cause, and even most modern wars were of this origin. There is no inherent enmity between the Germans and French, nor between the English and Germans. It has been created and fostered by wars arbitrarily forced upon them by conspirators and autocrats. The history of European monarchs is one of endless intrigue of marriages and alliances designed to increase imperial prestige, promote conquest, etc. None of these intrigues gave first consideration to human welfare, nor to national welfare for that matter, as innumerable revolutions against false monarchs abundantly testify.

England's foreign policies were up to the beginning of the World war founded on the principle of imperial ends. Prime ministers often were in conflict, so late as Victoria's reign, with royal foreign policies, and the people had nothing whatever to say about what was done, generally knew nothing of it. British policies in the Crimean war, the Napoleonic wars, in relations with Germany, France, Italy and Russia, were mostly royal whims, growing out of royal marriages, royal schemings, royal bargainings. Internarrations between the reigning houses of England and Germany for a time brought about great cordiality between these two peoples, later to be wrecked by conflicting imperial requirements. Count Witte in his autobiography reveals the wickedness and treachery of European royal machinations. We know the unscrupulousness of the diplomacy of Bismarck and Machiavelli. We know the philosophy of von Bernhardt, Nietzsche, von Treitschke—all to curry imperial favor or further the purposes of despotism. We know the plottings against Austria and France: of the interminable conflict between rulers over the Balkans and their spoils; over Africa and its loot.

We know of war after war deliberately and unblushingly ordered by royal decree to swell royal power, forestall revolution, or to crush a rival, having no relation whatever to national or human welfare. We behold the intrigues of Vienna, Berlin and other capitals, their malevolent treaties, their secret alliances, the hatreds and clashing ambitions of crowned heads, and finally the monstrous culmination in the World war. Can anyone say the enmities and prejudices of peoples of Europe, bandied about for centuries as the tools and pawns of absolutism, are natural and normal? Can any person argue that they are not the product, 100 per cent, of their so-called governments—of kings, kaisers, czars and princely whatnots? What happened when peoples were rescued from these iron masters, from these tyrants, imbeciles and autocrats? America is the answer. Does German hate Frenchman in the United States? Do the Irish and the English dwell in peace? What alleged racial antipathies control either the government or foreign policies of this nation? Do we not live in peace with Canada, though armed against Great Britain because Great Britain is armed against us? What racial flare-ups in America cannot be traced to old-world heritages, and the strife generated by irresponsible rulers? Do we really make fun of aliens, do we really dislike them, or is our attitude that of amused curiosity? What do the immigration records and policies for 100 years show as to American tolerance. American sympathy, American helpfulness, of brotherly affection, for the alien.

It is just such talk, just such argument, just such false conclusions, as drawn by the Tribune that preserve and accentuate racial misunderstanding, racial animosity, international friction. It is just such philosophy that stands between the peoples of Europe and the United States in their desire for universal peace, in their wish to end war. It is just such doctrine that makes it possible for politicians to block the League of Nations and get away with it. It is just such teachings that make a mountain of disarmament and threaten to frustrate the success of the conference at Washington. It is the old elevation of government over peoples, of autocrats over subjects. If the governments and the politicians are to settle the question, and the peoples have nothing to say, we are in truth premature in our efforts to reduce armaments. We have not yet reached the stage where peoples are governments, or control their governments. The people have not yet attained the point in their political emancipation where they can have what they want and live as they desire to live. We shall know where we "are at" when the dignitaries assemble at Washington and tell us whether we may or may not put down some of the back-breaking burden we are carrying for militarism and war; whether we have to sleep with a gun under our pillow or whether we may so order our affairs that we may dwell in peace with the rest of the world.

TUBERCULOSIS CAN BE ARRESTED

Tuberculosis is consumption and consumption is phthisis, and phthisis is the disease which some of our ancestors and maybe some of their doctors tried to conceal by saying "going into decline." Pulmonary tuberculosis means tuberculosis of the lungs—consumption—phthisis—"going into decline"—but for heaven's sake I hope not "cold settled on the lungs," or "weak lungs," or "a little catarrhal trouble in one lung," any more.

Pulmonary tuberculosis is a chronic disease. That means a disease that runs a prolonged course. There are various more or less arbitrary stages. First, the beginning stage, or as doctors say, incipient tuberculosis; months later, the second stage in which the affected part of the lung or lungs becomes more or less solid or infiltrated, like the hardened place around a boil; and third, the breaking down or ulceration of this hardened place to form a cavity. Now in the bright age of our grandfathers few doctors were sufficiently educated or equipped with the necessary instruments of precision to detect tuberculosis until the third or cavity stage had arrived, and naturally the chances for recovery after the disease had progressed so far were very small.

Here is a rather interesting sentence I take from a personal letter from a tuberculosis patient (not my patient) who has recovered at home.

"I wish there were some way that the general public could be informed about the real meaning of rest, and what can be accomplished in one's own home or locality."

Incidentally the home of the writer of the letter is in a large city in Michigan, not a fancy climate. He begins his letter thus:

"In 1917 I wrote you some of my experiences with T. B. You advised me to submit an article embodying my experiences to some magazine. In October, 1917, I wrote a short article which was published in 'The Journal of the Outdoor Life.'"

The article is the leading article of the issue for June, 1921. "How I Won the Battle With Tuberculosis in My Own Home," and a reading of it will repay every tuberculosis fighter who can get hold of the magazine.

Tuberculosis is arrested—with the accent on the REST. Rest is the important remedy—rest in bed, in the open air under the supervision of a physician whose judgment and skill are indispensable for success. This particular victor tells in his magazine article how his doctor approved of his plan, or course, at every step from the beginning of the fight to recovery.

A great many victims of tuberculosis get the idea that they can do without expert, helpful care. That idea is a fatal one for hundreds of victims of this most curable of all chronic diseases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Cocoa Butter Myth
I have a thin neck. Will cocoa butter massage help to correct this?—C. C. P.
Answer.—No. Cocoa butter is an inferior food. No food is utilized to produce flesh or fat unless eaten and digested in the ordinary way. Massage does not alter the amount of local fat deposit as a rule. Fats or other nutritive substances are not absorbed through the skin, so it is absurd to think of anything of that sort serving as a "flesh food" or "skin food."

Snoring
Is there any way I can break myself of the habit of snoring?—G. C. G.
Answer.—Snoring generally depends upon a relaxed or flabby condition of the Schneiderian membrane, which is a way of saying the lining of the nasal passages. Aside from correction of the faulty general hygiene and habits which predispose to this condition of the upper breathing tract, a series of local treatments by a physician who treats nose and throat diseases will usually overcome the snoring by restoring the membrane to something like a normal state.

Dandruff
Will coconut oil remove the dandruff from my scalp?—Mrs. S. E. B.
Answer.—No. It requires washing to remove the dandruff, and daily self-treatment of the scalp for a period of a month about twice a year, since the condition is more or less infectious and so nearly universal that re-infection is almost impossible to avoid. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and request special advice about dandruff and the care of the hair.

Heart Trouble
Kindly answer through your column and give a relief for heart trouble. Do you know of a stimulant I can use? Mrs. A. K.
Answer.—In most cases of heart disease the use of a stimulant is unwise and sometimes dangerous. Your own physician alone should answer your query.

ALL LEARN JU-JITSU
Japanese children begin to study Ju-jitsu in their earliest years, for it is a system of physical culture, hygiene and ethics, besides being a form of self-defense and offense. A series of exercises to give strength and flexibility to the limbs are first taught; later the pupil is shown the fine art of using an adversary's strength against himself, which is the real principle of Ju-jitsu.

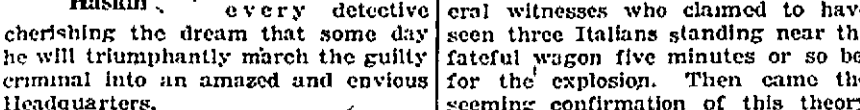

The Wall Street Mystery
By Frederic J. Haskin
New York City.—Although persistently baffled in their efforts to solve the mystery of the Wall Street explosion, which last year killed 39 persons, injured 200 and caused nearly $1,000,000 property damage, the New York police and detectives of the United States Department of Justice have never for a moment abandoned it. Investigation of this so-called master crime is still proceeding quietly but determinedly, every detective cherishing the dream that some day he will triumphantly march the guilty criminal into an amazed and envious headquarters.

Upon the anniversary of the disaster, a couple of weeks ago, the financial district of the city was placed under heavy guard. Upper Fifth Avenue shone brilliantly with brass buttons, while downtown, detectives from the bomb and homicide squad of the police department "covered" the sub-treasury and the assay office and the large banking houses of the neighborhood, eagerly waiting for some indication of proposed violence.

In these propitious circumstances, of course, nothing happened. After a long day of hopeful suspense, the guards went safely home to bed, and the mystery of the bomb outrage—certainly one of the most curious that has ever puzzled the police—was admitted to be no nearer a solution. A few officials went even further and admitted that it had been impossible even to establish the fact that a bomb was planted by any one.

That the crime was planned and perpetrated by an anarchist or a group of anarchists is the theory which the police have been working on all along—a theory presumably well founded upon clues discovered on the scene of the crime. Accordingly, the search for criminals has been confined chiefly to radical groups throughout the country. In the past year several suspects were arrested by the agents of the Department of Justice, but all were later released (or were of sufficient evidence). Occasionally, one hears the theory advanced that the whole catastrophe was an accident, but you cannot make the police believe that. "Where," they ask you quickly, "do the sash weights fit into the accident theory? Why would an innocent wagon of T. N. T. be laden with sash weights, which, in the explosion, scattered like pieces of shrapnel among the crowd, causing much injury?"

And the terrible sash weights are only one item in the list of strange evidence which seems to sustain the theory that the explosion was planned.

Haskin

The Known Facts
The police know that on the morning of September 16, 1920, a wagon filled with high explosives and drawn by an underhanded horse and driven by a man and a woman, was driven to the heart of New York's great financial district—and parked in front of the United States Assay office directly across the street from the J. P. Morgan bank building, a location not more than 100 feet from the New York Stock Exchange. The noonday crowds were filling the narrow streets when the blast came.

The shock was so great that people in distant Brooklyn were frightened and ran screaming into the streets. You can imagine, therefore, what havoc it wrought among the crowds in Wall Street. In a brief interval, seemingly only a few seconds—1,700 policemen were on the scene fighting back the thousands of persons who rushed forward, in order that the wounded might not be trampled upon and that the ambulances and dead wagons might have free way. They arrived upon a ghastly scene. Victims were strewn about in all directions, suffering from painful minor injuries. The dilapidated vehicle which had suffered the explosion was shattered into atoms, while the head of its equally dilapidated horse was picked up on the steps of the United States Assay office.

The police soon had the streets roped off and the scene of the crime cleared in order that all existing clues might be preserved for investigation. Detectives from police headquarters and agents from the United States Department of Justice, including some of the most expert orthologists in the country, were almost immediately on hand, checking up bits of evidence, questioning alleged witnesses and tracing various reports.

A Resume of American Newspaper Opinion

An American Merchant-Marine?
When Chairman Lasker, in his first public address since becoming chairman of the Shipping Board, announced that the future preoccupations of the Board would concern themselves with studying and applying "the great charter given it by the merchant marine act of 1920, commonly known as the Jones act," he awakened echoes from the press that recall time-honored Congressional debates on ship subsidies, which at intervals have raged through many pages of Congressional Record.

"Assuming that he speaks with the knowledge and authority of the executive who called him to his office," says the PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.), "that announcement is of prime importance. It means that 'a leaf is to be taken out of the book of American development, and that the policy of protection for struggling American enterprise against powerful competition is to be applied in the building up of an American merchant marine.' That this spells subsidy would seem to be confirmed by the observations of the PHILADELPHIA RECORD (Dem.), to the effect, that 'Mr. Lasker recognizes the lower costs of operating vessels under foreign flags, and says we must overtake them by proposing subsidies, he evaded a reply.'"

Developing the subject further, the RECORD says: "We 'perished from the ocean' because we could make better money on shore. Probably we still can, and, if that be so, we might as well leave the shipping business in the foreign hands where it has been for the most part of sixty years. This is purely a business matter. It hasn't anything to do with patriotism. A freight train is just as patriotic as a steamship."

The SOUTH BEND (Ind.) TRIBUNE (Ind. Rep.), on the other hand, is assured that "America wants her flag on the seas."

"We want our goods carried in our own bottoms," it says. "But we do not want the government owning and operating that marine. It can't be done economically. Nor should it be government-owned and privately operated. Privately owned, privately operated, with such government control as will obviate abuses, and if necessary a government subsidy to be charged off as a premium for insurance of bottoms in time of national necessity, appears now a wiser solution."

"It is a problem," in the opinion of the ANN ARBOR TIMES NEWS (Ind.), "which reduced to its simplest terms means that the United States Government can control the freight rates charged by American ships, but cannot control the rates charged by ships flying a foreign flag," and adds that the "stumbling-block" in the La Follette seaman's act "undoubtedly could be removed."

"Giving the Jones law life is still a question for debate," in the cautious view of the BUFFALO EXPRESS (Rep.), "although it may be that President Harding will accede to the wishes of the shipping experts and will abrogate the commercial treaties which are preventing the enactment of discriminatory duties in favor of American ports in American vessels," a prospect which moves the NORFOLK VIRGINIAN PILOT (Dem.) to remark on the unhappiness of "the administration that has to fit its program at one and the same time to the myopic vision of Congressmen Fordney and the telescopic outlook of Albert D. Lasker." Following up its argument, this paper thinks that before foreign business is resumed "we must increase greatly the volume of our exports. This cannot be accomplished without greatly increasing the volume of our imports. At this point in the logical development of Mr. Lasker's premise the argument encounters a withering cross-gale from the father of the pending tariff work."

who regards our foreign trade, even in its depleted state, as a "menace." The NEW YORK TIMES (Ind. Dem.) brings up Benjamin Franklin's theory of foreign trade policy, which would eschew "burdensome" preferences which are usually sources of debate, embarrassment and discontent. In pursuance of that policy our Government has negotiated forty treaties of reciprocity. Most of them are still in force, and it is proposed to denounce twenty-seven of them in support of an insolvent and desperate shipping policy. What would other Governments do? Would they imitate us? For Chairman Lasker and his colleagues to assert, thinks the NEW YORK TRIBUNE (Rep.) "that the only hope of restoring Yankee ship building to deep waters lies in the Jones act is not enough. They will have to demonstrate this."

As to Chairman Lasker's assertion that "foreigners are ever at work" with a purpose "to undermine the possibility of an American merchant marine," the WASHINGTON POST (Ind.) states that "he only said what everybody knows," but thinks "the public will be slow to believe in the allegation" that they are aided "in this by certain American interests, and agrees with the NEW YORK TRIBUNE (Rep.) that the chairman "should seize the first opportunity to make known the identity of these hostile forces. Let him name in particular those who are 'sowing seeds of discord and distrust' from within our boundaries. 'The American public will know how to deal with them.'"

The NEW YORK WORLD (Dem.), however, holds that "the world's trade is not a fixed quantity over which the nations must squabble to the end of time. There is as much trade as the merchants and captains of the earth have the pluck and ingenuity to build up."

A Capital City for the World
An American architect, now living in Rome, has designed a city to serve as capital of the United States of the World. The TRIBUNE of Rome tells about it, and holds that the creation of this city would be a long step toward realizing that world harmony towards which the peoples of the globe are striving.

"The American architect Anderson is living in Rome. He is an artist of great talent and imagination, and has built the universal city, the great world center where all states and peoples are equally represented. He has built it, you must understand, on the map, in wood and in plaster, but with models of such large proportions and furnished with such minute details that the day when the fraternity of peoples becomes a reality and the need is felt for founding a common directing place, a sort of fountain of alliances turned into metropolis, nothing else will be necessary but to put Anderson's plan into execution."

This enormous and wonderful town is to have in the central part, huge buildings in which would be the real temples of international progress: the temples of politics, of justice, of science, commerce, industry, art, music, etc. Each people would take there the most and the best of its assets and of its culture. Ambassadors and embassies would be superfluous because the contact between the different countries would only be developed through the delegation permanently established in the future metropolis. I believe all conflicts and vexed questions would disappear before the wondrous majesty of the aeropagus established there. Only one thing is wanting to carry it out. It is world saving design, the place where this directing center of the earth is to be raised, and the millions necessary for constructing it, and find the indispensable faith to animate it, to hold it together, and make it work."

FORDS RUN 34 MILES ON GALLON GASOLINE

Start Easy in Coldest Weather—Other Cars Show Proportionate Saving

A new carburetor which cuts down gasoline consumption of any motor and reduces gasoline bills from one-third to one-half is the proud achievement of the Air-Friction Carburetor Co., 146 Madison-St., Dayton, Ohio. This remarkable invention not only increases the power of motors from 30 to 50 per cent, but enables every one to run slow on high gear. It also makes it easy to start a Ford or any other car in the coldest weather. You can use the very cheapest gasoline and half kerosene and still get more power and more mileage than you now get from the highest test gasoline. All Ford owners can get as high as 34 miles to a gallon of gasoline. So sure are the manufacturers of the immense saving their new carburetor will make that they offer to send it on 30 days' trial to every car owner. As it can be put on or taken off in a few minutes by anyone all readers of this paper who want to try it should send their name, address and make of car to the manufacturers at once. They also want local agents, to whom they offer exceptionally large profits. Write them today.—Adv.

Fruit Salad As Dessert

Fruit salad may often be served in place of a dessert. After a dinner that is rich in fats and starches a dessert of fruit is acceptable. The winter dinner especially gains much if the salad and dessert are made one and the whole is topped off with black coffee with cheese and crackers.

The fruits that were canned during the summer months may be drained from their sirup and used in many combination. The sirup should be saved for drinks and sauces for desserts.

Pear Salad

Allow a whole canned pear for each serving. Work a cream cheese smooth with cream. Any of the cream cheeses put up in small packages may be used. Fill the cavities of the pears with the cheese mixture, put two halves together to make a whole pear and serve on lettuce with whipped cream dressing.

Whipped Cream Dressing

Four tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon mustard, 2 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 4 tablespoons water, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 egg yolks, 1 cup whipping cream.

Melt butter, add flour, salt, sugar, pepper and mustard, mixed and sifted. Stir till smooth and add vinegar and water. Put over a slow fire and cook, stirring constantly till all is thick and smooth. Take from fire and add yolks of eggs unbeaten. Beat well with the spoon. Let cool and add the cream beaten stiff. Mix thoroughly and let stand two or three hours before using.

Fruit Salad Dressing

Four tablespoons pear, peach or pineapple juice, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs.

Beat eggs slightly, just enough to mix whites and yolks. Add sugar, fruit and lemon juice. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until the mixture coats the spoon. Remove from fire and cool.

Either of these dressings are good with fruit.

Combination Salad

One-half cup diced pears, ½ cup diced peaches, ¼ cup diced apple, ¼ cup diced pineapple, 2 tablespoons preserved cherries, ½ cup nuts. Drain pears, peaches and pineapple from their juices. Cut in dice and measure. Drain cherries from juice. Chill ingredients. Mix and serve on lettuce masked with either dressing. The salad should be served as soon as mixed.

Quince Salad

Eight quarters canned quinces, 1 grapefruit, ½ pound white grapes, red raspberry jam.

Cut quinces in cubes. Remove grapefruit from skin. To do this cut grapefruit in half, cut the center pithy part out with scissors and scoop the pulp out with a strong teaspoon. This way there is no danger of any bitter skin clinging to the pulp. Save the juice. Seed and skin grapes. Arrange fruit in groups on lettuce hearts, putting the quince in the center. Cover quince with whipped cream and put a teaspoonful of the jam on top. Serve plain French dressing with the salad.

TO TAKE THE CREAM. Three-quarters cup whipping cream, 3 tablespoons grapefruit juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, paprika.

Beat cream with the fruit juices until stiff. Add salt and paprika and drop on salad.

HIGHS PLAY WEST GREEN BAY SQUAD

Next Game on High School Grid
Schedule to be Played in Green Bay

Kaukauna—High school football men are turning out nightly for light practice to keep them from getting stiff. There will be no game Saturday. Practice will resume with split again next week in preparation for a game here Saturday, Oct. 23, with North Fond du Lac.

The crucial game of the season will be played Saturday Nov. 5 when the Orange and Black meets Appleton on her own field. While the game may not mean much to Appleton, it would put quite a feather in the high school's athletic hat to have on record that Appleton was defeated by the Kaukauna high school. The fact that Appleton apparently gave a date grudgingly, thinking it not worth while to play a game with the lowly Kaukaunaites, adds to the determination of the team to fight to the limit of endurance.

Madison—Attorney General William J. Morgan filed in the circuit court at Chippewa Falls Tuesday complaint records in the state's action of forfeiture on a hotel property in that city alleged raffled by the Elks of Chippewa Falls in violation of Wisconsin lottery laws.

In the complaint entered by Morgan it is charged that the Chippewa Falls lodge No. 1275 B. P. O. E. "got up and promoted a lottery for the disposition of the hotel Northern in violation of state laws."

Morgan demands forfeiture of the property to the state.

Take Evans' Triple Phosphates With Meals

Gain Several Pounds of Stay-There Flesh

In one month's time EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES puts on several pounds of solid red blooded flesh and changes your weak, run-down, nervous tired body into a strong, vigorous robust one or money back.

Of course medical men are surprised and many are still unbelievers, but the fact is evident to every up-to-date pharmacist that Evans' Triple Phosphates will produce flesh without violent methods, face creams, daily massage or beauty torture.

In order to assimilate the nourishing food this people daily take into the body and turn it into healthy, red blood corpuscles, the nerves that control the process of digestion and assimilation must be put in first-class shape, and that is one of the first things Evans' Triple Phosphates does.

Evans' Triple Phosphates comes in small tablet form; a ten day's treatment is guaranteed to increase your weight at least several pounds, and in ten days make you feel like a new being, full of ambition, vigor and a desire to accomplish things. All good druggists have agreed to supply Evans' Triple Phosphates and guarantee it to do just what is claimed for it, or money refunded.

Even though Evans' Triple Phosphates works wonders in all cases of nervous, digestive and blood troubles, don't take it unless you really desire to put on flesh, gain weight.

RUTH READY TO FORM OWN TEAM FOR NEXT SEASON

Home Run King Declares He is Acting for Best Interest of Baseball

Jameson, N. Y.—Babe Ruth declared Tuesday he would continue to play baseball next year even if Judge Landis barred him from the major leagues.

Ruth indicated that he would organize his own independent team and engage in exhibition games all over the country.

When informed that Judge Landis, high commissioner of baseball might suspend him from the leagues for a year because he is playing exhibition games now in violation of the rules, Ruth said:

"I will continue to play baseball next year, that's a cinch. If I organize my own team, however, it won't be a team of outlaws. By that I mean players who have been thrown out of the game for gambling and things like that. I won't have anything to do with those former Chicago White Sox players who were mixed up in that world series scandal. But my team would be formed of good, clean fellows, players who are straight, but who have jumped from the American league."

Ruth declared he would go right ahead with his present barnstorming trip until November 1.

"I am acting for the best interests of all players in this," he said. "The rule prohibiting world series players from going on exhibition tours is unfair and it ought to be changed."

Asked about his physical condition, the home run slugger said:

"I feel a lot better. The stiffness has gone out of my leg and my injured arm has improved rapidly."

HIGHS PREPARING FOR APPLETON GAME

Kaukauna Welcomes Chances to Take Fall Out of Appleton Grid Team

The high school football schedule will be resumed next Saturday afternoon when the local team plays the West Green Bay team at Green Bay. Appleton has defeated the West Side team for several years and is confident of turning the trick again. Both teams have been going fairly well so far this season and a good game is expected.

The Orange and Blue showed surprising driving power in the game with Lawrence freshmen last Saturday. Gains were made consistently through a heavier line, the backs ran around the ends with more snap and the entire team appeared to be much stronger. The defeat at Antigo stirred up the squad.

Reach played a good game at quarterback, leading the team well and carried the ball for good gains. His punting was about the best he has ever done. Vincent is drilling his men in open plays in preparation for the West Green Bay game and it will not be surprising to see the local squad open up with a dazzling forward pass attack.

Troop 2 Wins
In inter-troop football, Boy Scout troop 2 defeated troop 3 by a score of 46 to 0 in Jones Park Monday afternoon. Walter Heidemann, halfback, was the star of the game and got away for several long runs and touchdowns.

Penn State Plays Washington U.

Upper left, Bentz, center, right, captain Snell, fullback. Lower left, Coach Hugo Bezdek, and Tidy McMahon, the six-foot seven-inch tackle, of the Penn State team.

Can the west again put the damp on the east in collegiate football as they did last year when California kicked Ohio State from the Sunbelt plant back to the land of buckeyes? Coach Bezdek's band of Penn State warriors will furnish the answer on Dec. 8, when they journey to Seattle to play Washington University, a team that under Enoch Bagshaw is coming rapidly to the front on the coast.

All the Pacific coast teams are stronger this season than they were last, and Pacific coast conference games are no exhibition matches.

Pen Primed
But Bezdek's men will be primed for the Bagshaw post-season battle

by the experience of a season, the schedule of which calls for games with Lehigh, Harvard, Georgia Tech, Navy, Carnegie Tech and Pitt, all formidable opponents.

There are only three of the old variety of last season back with Penn State. Bentz, at center, Quarterback Killinger and Captain George Snell, at full. All three are playing their final year.

Two freshmen of last fall are in the varsity line-up. Madera at left tackle, and Cornwall at right half. Cornwall starred with the Freshies last year and his place kicking is being for Penn crew this season. He registered five perfect boots over the bar in the game with North Carolina.

Two Heavies
Bedenk, right guard, and Baer, left guard, have both played before, Baer on the freshman team in 1919, and Bedenk substituting for two years. Jay McMahon, the giant right tackle, weighs 210 pounds and stands six feet seven inches. He is a heavyweight wrestler and subbed last season.

Along with McMahon, Penn State has a 200-pounder in Baer. The lightest man and greatest ground gainer is Killinger, who weighs 180 pounds. The team averages around 180 pounds. All the men are close to six footers.

COLLEGE MAT MEN GET FIRST WORKOUT

Lawrence college wrestlers had their first real workout Monday afternoon and evening when they went through a series of symbolic stunts, followed by work on the mat. The work was directed by Coach Thomas of the wrestling squad and George Hill, professional wrestler.

Anderson has been elected manager of the team and will endeavor to line up matches with other schools and with wrestling teams in this vicinity. Teams will be formed at the Y. M. C. A., Little Chute, Kimberly and possibly Kaukauna, and it is expected to meet those squads.

The return of Swanson, a 140-pound wrestler to the squad has made three look brighter. Swanson was with the team two years ago but was not in action last year. The grapplers are handicapped in their preparations because they have no wrestling mat but it is believed one will be supplied soon.

FIND PLENTY OF MEN HERE FOR BIG BASKETBALL TEAM

New London is Seeking Berth in Basketball League—Start Games Dec. 1

No difficulty is being experienced in finding men to make up the Appleton basketball team in the Central Wisconsin league, according to George Dame, who will have charge of the local team. Mr. Dame has signed up several good men and others are seeking places on the squad. It was announced that every man who believes he can make the team will be given a trial.

The first tryouts will be held about Nov. 20 in Armory G. and the season will open shortly after Dec. 1.

It is almost certain that Carleton Saecker will be in Appleton lineup. Saecker was a star for several years on high school and college teams and is one of the best cage players in the state. Napenski, former college star, also may appear in an Appleton suit.

New London is clamoring for a berth in the league and there is a possibility that it will be admitted. Oshkosh is having difficulty in finding a playing floor and it may be necessary to drop the Sawdust city and take on New London. Neenah, Green Bay and Fond du Lac are lining up their teams and will announce their plans soon.

HILL'S REPUTATION EXTENDS OVER U. S.

Wrestling fans who believe that the reputation of George Hill as a wrestler is only local and does not extend beyond the state will be surprised to know that wherever wrestling fans gather he is well known. His work in Appleton last year stamped him as one of the best grapplers in the business. Some of the men he has defeated have nationwide reputations and his showing received considerable notice.

Osman, who is to meet him here Oct. 25, known of Hill by reputation and was pleased to get a match with him. Osman has met many of the best grapplers in the country. He is big, strong and shifty and will force Hill to extend himself to get an even break. It is a pretty stiff match to open the season but Hill says he wants to meet the really well known wrestlers as fast as he can.

Osman is negotiating for a return match with Stecher, former champion, who defeated him in straight falls some months ago. The big Pole believes he has improved sufficiently to turn the tables on the former champ.

LIGINGER "MADE" STATE BOXING LAW

Retiring Member of Boxing Commission Did His Work Well

Milwaukee.—After a wait of two months, Gov. E. B. Blaine on Tuesday appointed Arthur J. Schinner, sport writer, a member of the state boxing commission for five years, succeeding Walter H. Liginger, ending eight years of hard and faithful service that Liginger had given to the work.

Liginger was appointed a member of the board and elected its chairman, shortly after the Hedding law went into effect in 1913. Under his guidance, boxing became a recognized sport in Wisconsin. From an obscure and law evading pastime, it was elevated to a plane with all other legitimate sports, and today stands second only to baseball in popularity. The position carries no recompense, but Liginger devoted his entire time to his work, and results soon began to show.

Boxers and managers soon came to learn that the Wisconsin boxing commission rules were not to be trifled with. Liginger's ax fell on the high and mighty, as well as the ham and egg fighters, who violated the rules. Packey McFarland, Freddie Welsh and Charlie White were three of those who found that rules were made to be obeyed.

The state boxing law and rules became a pattern for other states, and newly erected commission now enforcing is based on the Wisconsin idea. Able assisted by Dr. C. W. Morter, and William Hart, Wisconsin's board ruled, justly, and when necessary severely, but all moves were for the betterment of the game, and they seldom erred.

Liginger can leave office with the feeling that while his efforts are not appreciated by some, the fans in general know that he is responsible for the present high standing of their favorite sport.

COHAN SAYS HE WILL BUY CLUB IN MAJORS

New York—George M. Cohan, who recently announced his retirement from the theatrical production business, said Tuesday night he was negotiating for the ownership of a major league baseball club and expected the deal to be consummated by next Monday.

GIBBONS AND O'DOWD BARRED BY OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma City—Gov. J. B. A. Robertson on Tuesday ordered the sheriff of Tulsa county to take such steps as may be necessary to prevent the Mike Gibbons Mike O'Dowd, middleweight boxing contest in Tulsa next Tuesday, warning the promoters it will not be permitted in Oklahoma.

"Both Gibbons and O'Dowd are professional prize fighters and are contenders for championship honors in the class, and so regarded by the

BEAT BELOIT IS COLLEGE SLOGAN BEFORE BIG GAME

Coaches Considering Changes in Backfield of Lawrence Grid Team

"Beat Beloit!" That is the slogan for next Saturday. Blue and white ribbons carrying that legend are being distributed about the city and the interest in Saturday's game here with the State line school is growing. It will be the first conference game of the season. Football fans received pretty much of a shock in last Saturday's game but they are eager to see the team perform against a conference school. Lawrence is sure to show considerable improvement this week so there is every reason to believe the team will make a much better showing on Saturday.

There is a possibility of a change in the backfield which is rather slow. Goan, Barry and Kubitz are fast men but Barry apparently has slowed up slightly. It was evident in Saturday's game that if the backfield got started more quickly it would have been able to take advantage of the holes made by the line. The coaches are working on that problem this week.

SECRET WORK FOR WISCONSIN SQUAD

Madison, Wis.—With the sun shining Tuesday after ten days of rain on Camp Randall field, the Badgers renewed their practice with plenty of pep. Coach Richards has again made practices secret for the week with his squad being put into heavy scrimmages against the "All-Americans" who are using the Illinois style of play. Although Illinois style of play, although Illinois met defeat at Iowa last week, Coach Richards is looking forward to a close game and the Badgers are fighting to maintain a clean slate.

With Nelson finally off the hospital list the Badger line is rapidly improving. Gould is proving his worth on the left end and Brumm played a whale of a game last Saturday at tackle. After three weeks of constant experimenting with his line, Coach Richards has not hit a combination that looks to be as effective as could be had. The Badger backfield is scarcely out-ranked in the conference for speed and cleverness.

Close to 500 students will travel to Urbana to see their men hit their first hard conference game on Saturday. It will be a real test of Badger strength for Zupke has never failed to give Wisconsin one of its hardest games.

sporting world." Gov. Robertson said. "The affair can be construed as a 'boxing contest' in any sense of the word and will not be permitted in Oklahoma."

"The bout was stopped in Kansas because it was clearly a prize fight and it has been extensively advertised as such and is so regarded by followers of the fighting game."

"It isn't the Boston Red Sox," he said. It was reported among his friends that the deal under negotiation was for the Cincinnati National league club.

MONAGHAN ROLLS UP FINE BOWLING SCORE

James J. (Jim) Monaghan, demon bank officer, skat player and pin smasher, set up a mark for the boys on the Elk bowling alley to shoot at when he hit the wood for a count of 277 Monday evening. The game was called on the new Elk alley. Jim made nine straight strikes but they failed to topple on the tenth attempt and his perfect score was spoiled. The rest of the boys figure Jim as in a class by himself this year.

BUSINESS IS GETTING BETTER IN WISCONSIN

Conditions affecting the real estate business throughout the state are declared to be much improved by Daniel P. Steinberg, president of the Wisconsin Real Estate Brokers association, who is now visiting realtors in the various cities of the state.

In a letter from Mr. Steinberg Tuesday, he said: "I have had a very fine trip so far and good meetings. I find conditions greatly improved in many ways and particularly in the real estate line."

Sunday School Meeting
Officers and teachers of the First Congregational Sunday school held their monthly supper and business meeting Tuesday evening in the church dining room. Warns School Children To Keep Off Car Tracks

School children of Appleton have been trespassing on the right of way of the Northwestern Railway Co. to such an extent that R. C. Richards of Chicago, a member of the central safety committee of that company has taken the matter up with W. B. Easing, local agent, to see that the practice is discontinued.

Mr. Easing's attention was called to paragraph 1386 of the September, 1921, report of the Northern Wisconsin division safety committee which reads:

"P. N. Borchers reports he stationed himself at Lawrence-st., Appleton from 7:30 a. m. to 9 a. m. Sept. 26, and counted 173 school children walking on right of way and leaving same at Lawrence-st., and reports that conditions north of this location are even worse."

"I wonder if you could not see the city superintendent of schools," said Mr. Richards, "and see if something cannot be done to put a stop to school children trespassing on the track. I am sending you some of our trespass pasters which may be useful in calling attention to this very grave danger."

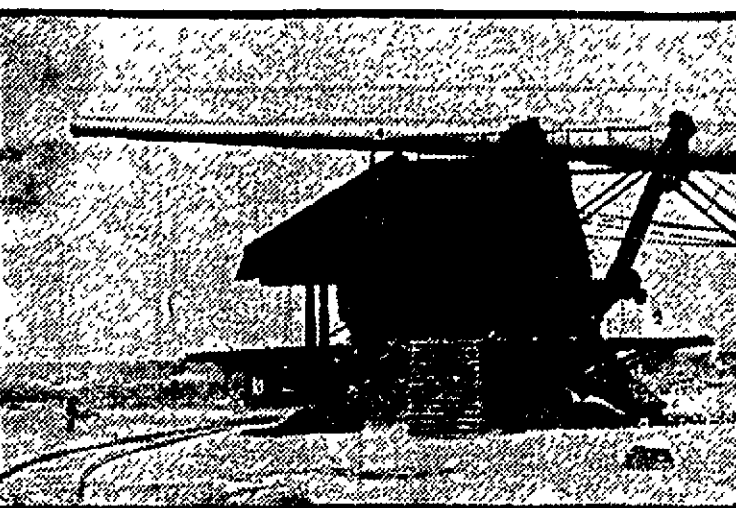

The pasters are two by three inches in dimensions, have a black border and read:

"Using railroad tracks for a highway is flirting with death. Over 4,500 funerals are held yearly for victims of this habit. During the last thirty years 123,552 persons were killed and 144,460 persons were injured walking on railroad tracks and slipping on cars in the United States. TELLS HOW RHODES HONORS MAY BE WON

The qualifications for a Rhodes scholar were explained to the students of Lawrence college at the chapel hour on Tuesday by Prof. William F. Roney, professor of French. He said that the student who is elected to go to Oxford as a Rhodes scholar must be between the ages of 19 and 26, unmarried, a citizen of the United States and have distinguished himself in three ways. These three ways are character, scholastic ability and an intelligent interest in outdoor sports. Prof. Roney, who is a Rhodes scholar, explained the work which is done by the American student in his three years at Oxford when he prepares for one long examination lasting through five and a half days on which he writes three hours in the morning and three hours in the afternoon. Prof. J. S. Custer, formerly of the Lawrence faculty, was also a Rhodes scholar. Two former students, Athol Rollins and Ernest Hooten went from Lawrence to Oxford on Rhodes honors.

HUGE ELEVATOR IN MARSTON CO. YARDS

Much New Equipment is Installed for Handling Coal and Building Material

Marston Bros. Co.'s new building for the handling of soft coal, sand and stone is completed with the exception of the metal sheeting which is to inclose it. It is equipped with the Godfrey conveyor system and is the most up to date structure of its kind in this part of the state. Its capacity is 1,500 tons and all unloading of cars or loading of delivery trucks is done by machinery.

The building is 140 feet long by 24 feet wide and 48 feet high. The machinery is operated by electricity. The bucket has a capacity of one ton and can unload four cars daily. The company orders its material shipped in hopper bottom or battleship cars which makes it possible to drop the material into a pit. The material then finds its way by gravity to the bucket which elevates it to the top of the building, where it is distributed into the bins. The bins are provided with spouts on either side for loading delivery trucks. The company's other elevator, which has a capacity of 1,200 tons, is used exclusively for the storage of hard coal. The two silos, 12 feet in diameter and 48 feet high, are used for coke. All of the company's material is under cover and screened before loading.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By GEORGE McMANUS

A Smile In The News

A Hymn of Hate
One who makes us
As mad as hops
As he who'll pass
The car that stops.
—Milwaukee Sentinel.
The One who makes
Our hearts rebel
Is the end who tells us
To go to—well
Don't mention it.

Call The Doctor!
Feminine voice on telephone to Post-Crescent society editor, "The consultation prizes were won by—"

Sam Says:
Honey may be a sweet word but it
rhymes with money.

That Reminds Us
Way Back in 1915 We Wrote A Song
Which Went Something Like This:

I've tried to save my money
To take my sweetheart honey
To the fair.
But the dimes go here and there
Shows and movies get a share
It's a mile or so to Frisco
And the fair.

Chorus—
San Francisco! San Francisco!
All the union station callers
Sing and say
San Francisco! San Francisco!
Just a mile or so to Frisco
Go today.

I've emptied all my pockets
For candy, rings and lockets
Chewing gum!
And I cannot save the sum
That would take us on the bum
It's a mile or so to Frisco
And the fair.

It's quite a ways to Frisco—
The ticket agent says so—
And the fair.
But there is no shorter route
If there was we'd hike it out—
It's quite a ways to Frisco
And the fair.

But it's all over now!

So, So.
One sense which is not highly cultivated by the rich is munificence.
HECK.

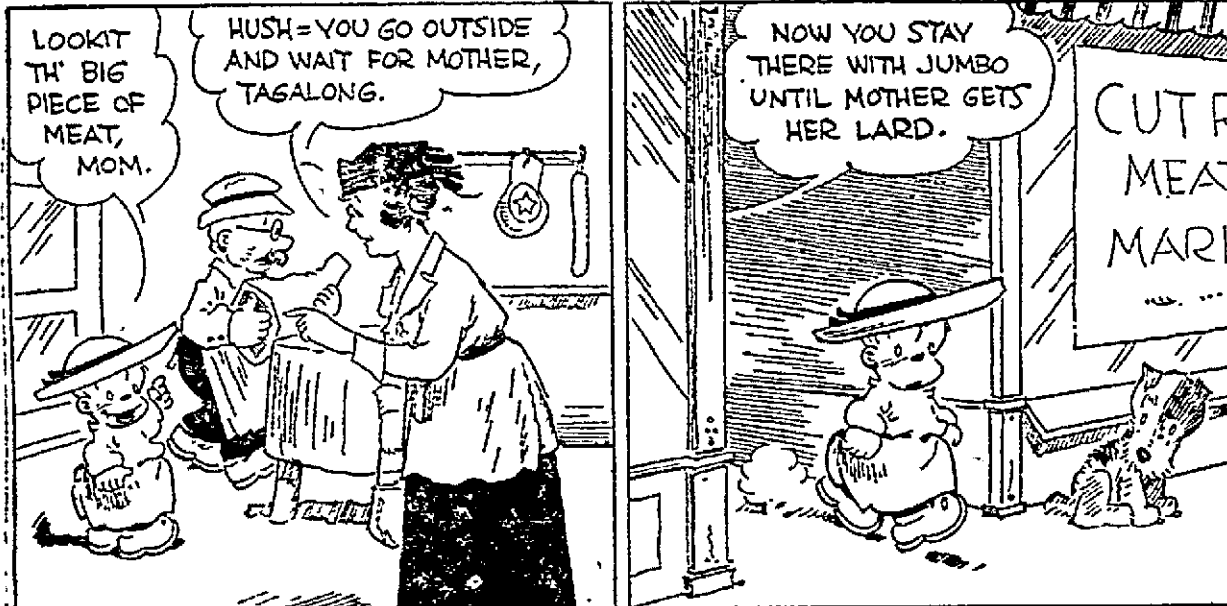

Why, Oh, Why?
Contrib says: "Why worry if the trains tie up? We can take the street car to Little Chute."

The World's A Little
Still Just Now
"Ho, hum, World's kind o' dead with no world series nor nuthin'," says
the town wag.

Upon My Word!
She: "If you want to see a good
English picture you ought to see 'Mid-
Channel.'"
He: "Why do you call it a good English picture?"
She: "Because it's so poor."

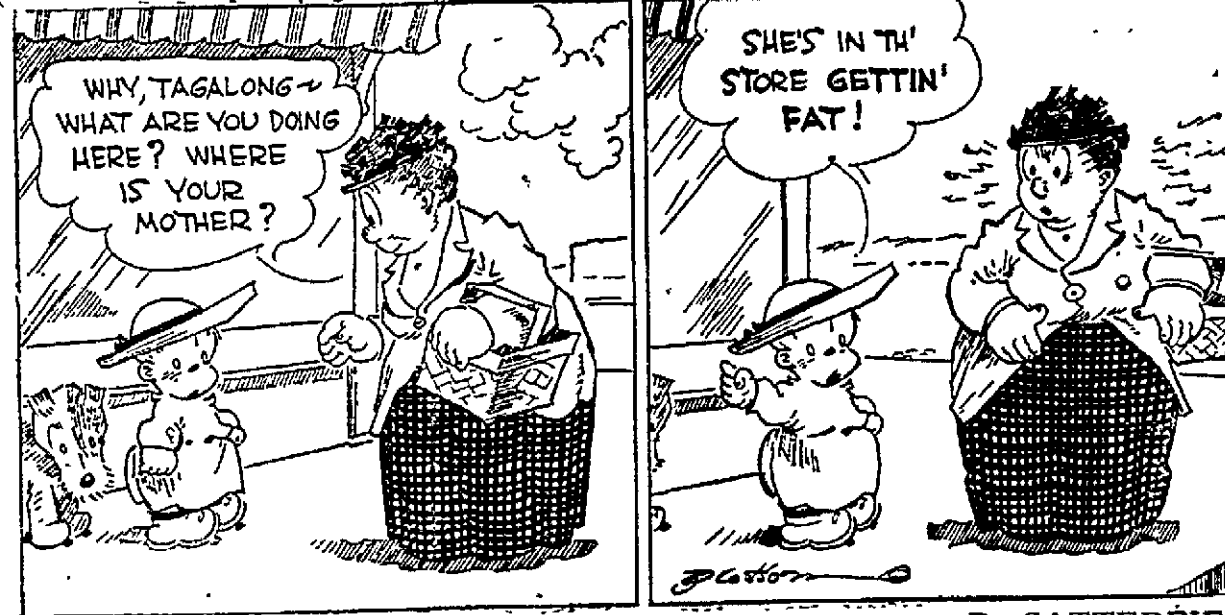

Have Ya Tried It?
Jerry says: "Scented talcum is O. K.
but hardly a substitute for a bath."

A jury at Tulsa, Okla., has acquitted Mrs. George Thomas, a wealthy Oklahoman, of a charge of assault and battery brought by Billie Dailey, a divorcee, who charged that Mrs. George Thomas and Mrs. Orville Thomas lured her to a secluded spot where they tied her to a tree, disrobed her and horsewhipped her. Billie Dailey is shown above (right) with Miss Irene Wells, a chum, who took the stand as a state's witness. Below left to right are Mrs. Orville Thomas and Mrs. George Thomas.

A Free Booklet on Fire Prevention For School Children

There will be 1,500 fires in the United States today. There were that many every day last year, and there will be that many every day this year, and every day next year — unless people are more careful.

A fire due to carelessness breaks out in this country oftener than every minute, day and night, the year round. These fires cost the American people each year more than the value of all the land and improvements in the state of North Carolina, or Maine, or Louisiana.

Ordinary care would prevent nearly every one of these fires. The National Board of Fire Underwriters has compiled a fire prevention manual for the school children of America, showing the common causes of fire in the home and simple methods of prevention.

The information in this splendid booklet is valuable alike to children and grown-ups. There are 94 pages of text and 50 marginal illustrations. The value is enhanced by the addition of hints on rendering first aid in all cases of scalds, burns, smoke or gas suffocation, as prepared by the American Red Cross.

Our Washington Information Bureau will be pleased to supply any school pupil, teacher, or any one else, with a free copy of "Safeguarding the Home Against Fire." Fill out the coupon below, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Print name and address or be sure to write plainly.

Rheumatism for Years Left Him Helpless and Unable to Work—Cured

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Schlitz Bros. Co., Voigt's Drug Store and Union Pharmacy have been appointed agents for Allen's in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.
